Why choose CoreTechs?

We have the expertise to help you decide if a mobile app is right for your company, and the integrity to let you know if we don't think a mobile app would help you out. If you decide to have us build your application, we can turn your idea into reality quickly with our in house design and programming team. The people making your application are always a phone call away!

Is my webpage optimized?

Whether you need a mobile application or not, if you are reading this; you likely have a web page. How that webpage displays to your customers affects not just how easily they get your information, but whether they get it at all. By 2014 more than half of all web page views will be on a mobile device. CoreTechs can help you prepare by optimizing your current webpage or building you a new one.

Do I need A mobile app?

Ask yourself these three questions, and if you answer yes to any of them, you could likely benefit from a mobile app for your company.

- 1.) Will it help us make more money by helping customers order our products or services?
- 2.) Will it help make our employees more efficient by helping customers access information for themselves?
- 3.) Do other companies in our field have one already?

We design and build applications for these mobile platforms:
